Crimes in America's 313 cities of 25,000 to 50,000 population-no figures were released for smaller communitiesshowed a disturbing upward trend during the first quarter of this year.

There were increases in offenses like burglary, robbery and aggravated assault, as well as the crimes of violence.

But in no category was the jump more annoying than in thefts from automobiles. These went up 18 percent.

What makes auto thievery so annoying is that it is largely preventable. Automobiles have locks. And the police speak out almost daily in warning owners to lock them.

What's more, police records long ago established that locked cars are safe. Thieves rarely force a car door-apparently because it is so easy to find unlocked vehicles.

Consequently, a lot of police work could be eliminated and criminal tendencies could be discouraged, if motorists would use the locks with which their cars are equipped.

Opening The Floodgates

According to a small but influential school of thought, the main flaw in American foreign-aid policy is precisely that it is American.

The United States, it's argued, ought to take a more expansive and disinterested view of the world's needs, and channel more of its aid through the United Nations.

While there's plenty wrong with U.S. aid-policy, it's hard to see where it has failed because of a narrow self-interest. On the contrary, billions have been wasted because no one in Washington had a very clear idea of how those dollars should serve the national interest.

In any event, the U.N. is about the last place to look for disinterested dogooders. Nations assemble there to advance their own interests; any dollars poured into the U.N. common pot are doled out only after the most selfish scrambling.

So what the proponents of aid through the U.N. are really asking is not that U.S. aid be disinterested, but that other interests be substituted for Consider what this means in practice. Last week, the U.N. Special Fund approved a $1,157,600 grant to Castro's Cuba to "improve" agriculture. The U.S. is but one of 18 members of the Fund, composed of Western, Communist and neutral nations, but it puts up 40% of the cash.

Overridden in the Fund's councils, the U.S. now stands committed to supply the bulk of this U.N. gift to the regime it has branded a clear and present danger to the Western Hemisphere.

As it is, little enough control is exercised over U.S. dollars distributed by Washington. But pumping aid through the U.N. clearly opens the floodgates -Wall Street Journal

> The United States has assumed since the Presidency of James Monroe (1817-1825) that it has solved any problem that might arise in Latin America by the Monroe Doctrine.

This was a statement of policy which appeared in a Message to Congress and which was acknowledged throughout the world as binding, although during the Civil War, Napoleon III attempted to violate it by placing Maximilian of Austria on the throne of Mexico. 'This difference proceeds from that which exists in their respective Governments; and to the defense of our own, which has been achieved by the loss of so much blood and treasure, and matured by the wisdom of their most enlightened citizens, and under which we have enjoyed unexampled felicity, this whole nation is devoted.

We owe it, therefore, to candor and to the amicable relations existing between the United States and those powers to declare that we should consider any attempt on their part to extend their system to any portion of this hemisphere as dangerous to our peace and safety.'

Further, it says:

"It is impossible that the allied powers of that time should extend their political system to any portion of either continent without endangering our peace and happiness; nor can anyone believe that our Southern brethren, if left to themselves, would adopt it of their own accord. It is equally impossible, therefore, that we should behold such interposition in any form with indifference."

This Doctrine made it clear that the United States would not permit a foreign power to gain territory or to control peoples on this continent. From 1823 until Wilson's Administration, we adhered rigidly to the principles of the Monroe Doctrine. Since then our policy has changed. The results have been unfavorable. It is vitally important that not only the students involved in that incident, but also students throughout the nation whom communists hope to explpoit in similar situations, recognize the tactics which resulted in what experienced West Coast observers familiar with communist strategy and tactics have termed the most successful communist coup in the San Francisco area in 25 years."

Judge Albert A. Axelrod, at whose court the students who were arrested appeared, made the following statements quoted in the Washington Post. Dec. 25, 1960, "I very definitely agree with the view of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover that the city hall riot of last May 13 was instigated

Seven Baptist ministers from the San Francisco area, who were present for the trial, are quoted in the Indianapolis News on March 10, 1961 as having said, "this film is a true and accurate representation of the activities of the hearings. #### The Wyckoff Shopper

June again . . . and the very mention of the word, raises a woman's blood pressure. I guess none of us ever become too old to thrill at the sound of the Lohengrin wedding march, or too disillusioned to hope that each new bride walking down the aisle in her frills and laces has hit the jackpot of happiness. Bless them all!-and may they have all the best things of life. copal Church, at home of Miss Richard Buzzard of Mount Aid and Missionary Society will (Many of them from WYCKOFF'S, of course!)

> The other week, I was chatting long distance with Thomas Ackerman, brother of cided at the meeting held at the a gentleman I have never seen, and who surprised me by exclaiming, "Say . . . I could use you. How would you like to come to New York and work for me? Have you ever thought about it?"

> > "I've had opportunities," I said, half wondering whether or not he was serious. "But I'm not at all sure I care to . . . at least now. I couldn't possibly leave right now. I have a big back yard with a lilac bush blooming

> > There was a sudden explosion at the other end of the line, and an unbelieving shout. "That is the darndest excuse for turning down a job I've ever heard," he scolded. "However, if you change your mind, come and

> > So now the mail has brought me a letter from the same bewildered gentleman, who wheedles a bit, and then adds, "Whenever the lilacs stop blooming, you have my address." I am wondering if maybe I should write him and say, "Sadly enough, the lilacs are gone . . . but you should see the big white bush that's blooming! It's like a cloud, and it smells heavenly. But maybe ... when THAT fades . . ." (Unless, of course, the pansies are still at it, or something else comes along.)

Speaking of blooming, there's just no doubt about it-June is "busting out all over" in every department of Wyckoff's. In our sportswear department, we have some of the prettiest wash-n-wear skirts you've ever seen, like rows of posies lining a picket fence. One is white duck, with huge patch pockets one of which is painted with the gay figure of a gardening gal. Another, a 16-Tall, is a Suburban Walker in brilliant rose with a saucy flair, and the prices are somewhere around 5.98 and 6.98.

Mardee' Albert's department is also blooming forth in all directions and in all colors. I noticed one half size dress in a heavenly shade of blue, as I whirled past, enroute to our very, very colorful domestics department. There, since pretty linen dish towels fill me with a delight some women feel for nothing less than mink, I had a lovely time among the well-filled racks. One set of towels, labeled "Dessert" as part of the design, comes in a variety of colors, my favorite being a soft, frosty blue. Another design comes in a turquoise which ranks high on my personal color chart . . . and then there is another style with an all-over floral print, the predominant colors being gold, rose, or turquoise. All are 1.00 each.

Like hanging vines profuse in their blooming, are the wonderful little tier curtains, and we have scads of them, all in lush colors. Some are dacron marquisette with ruffles in pink, white, orchid, or yellow, at 1.99 a tier and 99c each valance. Dacron too are those choice lovelies, displayed way up high on the shelf near the ceiling, and dainty as all get out, with bands of embroidery above the ruffle. These are 2.99 with a valance at 1.59.

But the most unusual, are imported curtains of organdy-crisp polyester and cotton, with scalloped edge, and hand painted flowers, and others in plain white of the same fabric, Swiss-embroidered in white. These are 2.99 each tier; 1.59 each valance.

And while you're thinking of flowers, be sure to see the Cannon Anniversary Rose ensemble in a choice of rose, yellow, electric blue, or orchid on white; terry of course, with matching plastic shower curtains. The prices: a modest 29c for washcloth; 59c, hand towel; 1.00, bath towel; 1.59, bath mat, and 2.98 shower or window curtains. When business is so blooming, it's sure to be blooming . . . don't you agree?

BUCKET SEATS ALONE DO NOT A MONZA MAKE

■ Gee! ■ Little did we know, when we introduced the Corvair Monza last year, that we were starting a Big Thing. We just thought it would be pleasant if you could buy a car that treats you, the driver, like you want to be treated. W The bucket seats, of course, are the most obvious evidence of our desire to please you. But they're not the most important thing. No sir. What's really vital is the way a Monza handles-something nobody in the U.S. has yet copied. Or can copy. Because Corvair is the only rear-engined car made in this country, and you know what that means: steering light as thistledown. (You even park this one more easily, it steers so briskly.) Beautifully balanced braking-the car stays level even under panic braking, which we hope you'll never have to do. Traction and more traction, so you don't become a stick-in-themud. The kind of cornering that's sheer joy to experience. M You get more: a fully independent suspension that blots out road shocks before they can ruffle you. Clean, crisp styling. Thoroughgoing economy, from purchase price to operating cost. B You're not going to be satisfied with bucket seats alone, are you?

PARALYTIC POLIO

on the way?

POLIO struck last summer. And the summer before. And there's an excellent chance that it will strike again.

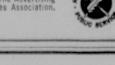

This summer make sure you and your babies are protected with Salk vaccine shots. It's foolish not to avail

You can arrange for your shots, and your family's, by calling your personal physician or call your local health department for information. Better do it just as soon as you can.

Make that all-important appointment today.

Don't take a chance—take your polio shots
